

Leave, Attendance and Flexible Work Policy

Fictional policy document prepared for training and RAG testing

Policy ID	HR-POL-002
Version	1.3
Effective date	1 July 2026
Policy owner	People Operations
Applies to	All employees; location-specific statutory benefits may vary

Important: This is a fictional internal policy corpus. It is not legal advice and should not be adopted without review under applicable employment, tax, privacy, safety, and local labor laws.

1. Policy objective

This policy defines planned and unplanned leave, attendance correction, holidays, weekly rest, short permission, work from home and manager responsibilities. Leave is intended to support health and personal needs while maintaining fair staffing and business continuity.

2. Annual leave entitlements

Leave type	Annual entitlement	Accrual / carry forward	Key conditions
Privilege / earned leave	18 working days	Accrues monthly; up to 30 days may carry forward	Normally request 7 days in advance for leave of 3 or more days.
Casual leave	6 working days	Credited yearly; no carry forward	For short personal needs; normally maximum 2 consecutive days.
Sick leave	8 working days	Credited yearly; no carry forward	Medical evidence may be requested for 3 or more consecutive working days or repeated patterns.
Bereavement leave	3 working days per event	No carry forward	For death of immediate family; additional leave may be approved from other balances.
Marriage leave	5 working days once during employment	No carry forward	Request at least 15 days in advance where possible.
Volunteer leave	1 working day	No carry forward	For company-approved community activity.

New joiners receive leave on a prorated basis from the month of joining. During probation, planned privilege leave is normally limited to the accrued balance unless exceptional approval is granted. Statutory maternity, adoption, commissioning parent, miscarriage, paternity or other protected leave will be provided according to applicable law and company benefit rules.

3. Leave request and approval process

1. Submit the request in HRIS with dates, leave type, contactability and a brief handover note.
2. Discuss foreseeable leave with the manager before making non-refundable travel commitments.
3. The manager reviews staffing, deadlines, customer commitments, fairness across the team and employee balance.
4. HRIS approval is the official record. Silence or a verbal discussion alone does not constitute approval, except in an emergency.
5. For unplanned absence, notify the manager preferably before shift start and submit/regularize the request within two working days of return.

4. Combining leave, weekends and holidays

Weekly rest days and declared holidays falling between approved leave dates are not normally deducted from leave balance for office employees. For rostered employees, only scheduled working days are deducted. A department may apply a lawful sandwich rule only where it is explicitly communicated for that location and approved by HR; no implicit sandwich deduction is permitted.

5. Half-day leave and short permission

Option	Duration	Usage rule
First-half leave	Covers scheduled start through meal break	Employee must report by the second-half reporting time set for the location.
Second-half leave	Covers after the meal break through shift end	Employee must complete the first-half minimum hours.
Short permission	Up to 2 hours	Normally max two per month; manager approval required.
Attendance regularization	Corrects a missing/incorrect punch	Submit within three working days with reason and manager approval.

6. Sick leave and medical fitness

- Employees should not attend work with a communicable condition that creates material workplace risk.
- A fitness certificate may be requested after extended illness, surgery, workplace injury or when returning to machinery operation, driving, heavy lifting or other safety-sensitive work.
- Medical information will be handled confidentially and shared only on a need-to-know basis.
- Abuse of sick leave or falsified medical records may lead to disciplinary action after review.

7. Work from home and flexible work

Work from home is a work arrangement, not leave. It is available only where the role, security controls, customer requirements, equipment and manager approval permit. Showroom, warehouse, production, quality inspection, installation and maintenance roles are generally site-dependent.

Arrangement	Standard
Occasional WFH	Up to 4 days per month for eligible roles with manager approval.
Temporary WFH	Up to 20 working days for a documented temporary need, with department head and HR approval.
Core availability	10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. unless the team follows a different approved schedule.
Security	Company device, approved network controls, no unauthorized printing or shared household access.
Attendance	Log in through approved systems and remain reachable during scheduled hours.

8. Unauthorized absence and job abandonment

Absence without timely notification or approval may be treated as unauthorized and may result in unpaid time and disciplinary review. If an employee is absent for three consecutive scheduled working days without contact, HR will make reasonable attempts through registered contact details. Continued non-response may be treated as job abandonment after due process; it does not erase notice, property-return or confidentiality obligations.

9. Leave during notice period

Planned leave during notice is exceptional because the period is intended for transition. Sick or legally protected leave will be handled appropriately. Other leave may be rejected, adjusted against balance, treated as unpaid, or extend the last working day. Only HR can confirm whether the separation date changes.

10. Manager responsibilities

- Apply rules consistently and avoid discrimination or retaliation.
- Do not ask for unnecessary medical details; request only evidence reasonably needed for administration or safety.
- Plan coverage and avoid routinely contacting employees on approved leave except for genuine emergencies.
- Review repeated lateness, absences or missed punches promptly rather than allowing balances to accumulate.